Check with Angela McFadden for fracking in general or Dennis Carney for info on Dimock. Take care. Good to hear from you.

Hi Roy. I saw your quote in the paper about testing for the impacts of fracking. Can you tell me the name of the EPA "go to" person to better understand the impacts? I have intentionally been trying not to be too involved in the Marcellus issues [too many other things happening] but I continue to talk to people who are outraged by what is happening. I have seen some of the video on water supplies catching on fire. I want to understand if these situations are the rule or the exception. Any people or reports that you can steer me to would be much appreciated.

Thanks in advance for your consideration
